Timmy O'Neill Show at Half Moon Outfitters

Boulder, CO – Adventure enthusiasts and climbing junkies alike will not want to miss Timmy O'Neill's one-man show in Columbia, SC on Thur, Oct. 17 at Half Moon Outfitters at 6:30 p.m. Cost of admission is free, but audience members are encouraged to bring cash for raffle prizes and donations.

O'Neill, who has spent the past several decades traveling the world as a professional climber, philanthropist and comedic genius, will speak about his life and mission with Paradox Sports, the nonprofit he co-founded in 2007. This will be followed by the 12-minute film 24 Hours on the Nose, a documentary that features the adventures of O'Neill, fellow climber Quinn Brett and local businessman Mike Ray as they climb El Capitan, a 3,000-foot vertical granite wall in Yosemite National Park, despite it being Ray's first time in a rock climbing harness.

After the film, O'Neill will be signing posters, drawing raffle tickets and renewing Paradox Sports memberships. An after party featuring the band Midnight Sun starts at 9 p.m. at the Drop-In Deli.

This event is a part of a series of East Coast shows brought to you by Paradox Sports and Osprey Packs. If you cannot attend, but would still like to support the mission and programming of Paradox Sports, please visit <http://paradoxsports.org/donate-now>.
